A Guide to Resources for Maine Entrepreneurs

Greetings. This guide provides a starting point for entrepreneurs seeking resources in the state of Maine. It is also designed to help individuals and organizations that support and guide entrepreneurs and startups and are looking for ways to match resources with those in need. The following categories of resources are included:

- Training, Technical Assistance & Mentoring
- Financing & Capital
- Incubators & Workspaces
- Libraries
- Networking & Advocacy
- State & Regional Economic Development

Recurring Conferences & Events in Maine are listed as well.

The Maine Small Business Guide, published by the Small Business Administration (SBA), is another resource of value to entrepreneurs and startups. It includes resources for all small businesses, success stories and how-to's along with additional industry-specific resources.

In addition to the listed organizations, the local and regional chambers of commerce and libraries throughout Maine provide a wealth of information relevant to entrepreneurship. Most of Maine's colleges and universities also have programs relating to entrepreneurship. Check their respective websites for more information and updates.

If you have suggested edits, additions, or ideas, or you would like additional copies, please contact Susan at susan@newheightgroup.com or 207-633-4328. The guide PDF is available in the resources section at www.newheightgroup.com and you are welcome to place the guide PDF as a resource on your web site.

We wish entrepreneurs the very best with your endeavors and hope the resources assembled here assist you in your company's growth.

We are grateful to all of the organizations that support entrepreneurship in Maine and hope that this guide helps you "connect the dots."

Onwards!

Behind the Guide

Susan Morris is Principal of NewHeight Group, a Portland-based real estate development and services firm committed to creating high-quality live/work/play spaces while simultaneously striving to build community, enhance economic development, and support the arts.

Following her early career, working for global corporations including Marriott and owning businesses, Susan moved to Maine in 2003. It didn't take long for her to become increasingly intrigued by the potential of entrepreneurs and startups to grow Maine's economy.

In 2013, Susan decided to learn everything she could about what ecosystem existed to support entrepreneurs in Maine. Discovering that there were many available but unknown resources, Susan drafted the first Guide to Entrepreneurship to help people "connect the dots" in Maine. Her guide then became part of A Guide to Resources for Maine Entrepreneurs produced by Maine Development Foundation's Leadership Maine Chi class in 2015. A revised edition was published in 2016.

Susan has actively engaged in Maine's entrepreneurial ecosystem and helped launch several programs through organizations such as Maine Startup & Create Week, House of Genius, Greenlight Maine, Maine Angels, MCED/Top Gun, Envision Maine, Women Standing Together, and Creative Portland's 2 Degrees Portland.

Liz Seward is a project manager who works with creative teams to execute branding and marketing projects. She moved to Portland in 2015 after many years in New York City working with New York Road Runners as their Creative Services Director. Susan was one of the first people she met after moving in, thanks to 2 Degrees Portland, and the two hit it off. From there, it was only a matter of time before she became engaged in the "entrepreneurs and startups" scene.

Liz has been a panelist for House of Genius and worked with the Marketing Committee for Maine Startup & Create Week 2016. She runs her own consulting business and coaches youth rowing in Yarmouth. When Susan proposed updating this guide, she jumped at the chance to dive even deeper into the subject and make it easier for other people to find out about all the great resources available to entrepreneurs here in Maine.
